

Sinclair Broadcasting's decision to force their stations to air an anti-Kerry documentary days before the election is a clear example of the dangers of media consolidation.

Sinclair uses the public airwaves free of charge, and is obligated by law to serve the public interest. A partisan ploy like this is clearly not in the public interest, and is not the fair and balanced coverage of the campaign that listeners deserve and demand.

The FCC needs to consider how its media ownership rules enable such blatant corruption and misuse of our public common airspace. Thank you.
